Heywood Wakefield Furniture: A Unique Style Statement For Your Home!

If you are looking for some new ideas for your home, buy retro furniture. Modern furniture is bold and unconventional. It would give your home interiors a unique style statement.

For the unfamiliar, retro furniture is a special kind of furniture that originated with the first modern designers in the 1920s and continued until the end of the 20th century. Modern furniture offered new materials and new forms. It was made from new materials like chrome, fiberglass and molded plywood and had bold, curvy lines and colors.

In addition to bringing nostalgia for past decades, retro furniture adds exuberance to your home or office interiors.

To buy retro furniture, you can log on to metroretro. It is an online retro furniture store that provides designer furniture and accessories. They specialize in mostly vintage and some new mid century modern furniture typically designed from the 1950's through the 1970's. Here you will find 3000 furniture items designed by Heywood Wakefield, Herman Miller, Jens Risom, Knoll, and Dunbar, and many others.

As an example, at Metro Retro, you can find a wide range of Heywood Wakefield furniture in the Kohinoor pattern for your bedroom. They have Heywood Wakefield Kohinoor vanities, nightstands, double dressers, single dressers, and beds, many in mint condition.

The Kohinoor series was named after the famous British diamond and was designed by Ernest Herman for Heywood Wakefield. The Kohinoor vanity features three drawers, two long glass shelves, and a tambour door concealing storage. This original wheat finish furniture would lend a richness to your bedroom.

You can also check out Metro Retro's Kohinoor nightstands. A set of two nightstands, they feature the original wheat finish and protective glass coverings for their tops.

If you wish to give your home a complete retro look, Metro Retro also has many other pieces of Heywood Wakefield furniture for other rooms in your home. For your living room, there is a rare Heywood Wakefield sofa in its original fabric in very good condition. There are also club chairs, side tables, coffee tables, and bookcases available.

For your dining room, there are several sets of tables and chairs, many with accompanying china cabinets and serving pieces. Metro Retro offers Heywood Wakefield furniture in several different styles and finishes to suit varied home interior needs and tastes.

So, what are waiting for? Just visit us and buy Heywood Wakefield furniture or any other Retro Furniture. You would definitely be glad you did.

Mid Century Furniture: A Unique Combination Of Simplicity And Beauty

Mid Century furniture is appropriate for any modern home or office. Although, simple in design, this style of furniture can add beauty and excitement to any environment.

Mid century modern furniture emerged after the World War II. Various avant-garde designers like Charles Eames, Eero Saarinen, George Nelson, Jens Risom, and furniture makers like Knoll, Herman Miller, Dunbar, and others created furniture items that were outstanding in design.

Mid Century Furniture was often designed with geometric or organic forms. The lines were simple and clean. Mid century modern furniture designers combined simplicity with beauty and ensured that each mid century furniture item looked impressive without being overdone.

Perhaps, this is the reason why mid century furniture is popular even after so many years. It allows modern households to create a relaxing environment where owners can unwind after a long, hectic day.

As well as providing comfort, mid century modern furniture lends charm to home interiors. It fits in almost every part of the home, whether it is kitchen, bedroom, living room, and even outdoor spaces.

There is yet another reason for the immense popularity of mid century modern furniture; it is very durable. Mid century furniture can be used for many years without facing any deterioration in its quality.

Although, there are several in-person stores that offer mid century furniture, you can buy mid century furniture online from metroretrofurniture. This online retro furniture store provides designer furniture and accessories. Here you would find new and vintage mid century modern design furniture, typically designed during 1950-1975 by leading designers like Paul Evans, Jens Risom, and manufacturers like Knoll, Heywood Wakefield, Herman Miller, Walter Von Nessen, Dunbar, and many others.

To take an example of Mid Century Modern Lamps, Metro Retro offers a wide collection of floor lamps and table lamps. Here you would find architectural sculpted floor lamp by Paul Evans, Torchiere floor lamp by Robsjohn Gibbings, Brass floor lamp by Von Nessen, and several other types of mid century modern lamps in wood and bronze by some of the renowned mid century furniture designers.

As well as mid century lamps, here you can also get mid century floor lamp lighting, mid century tables, chairs, sofas, casegoods, and other furniture items.

Each mid century furniture item is of the best quality and promises maximum customer satisfaction. Also, you can avail good discounts on purchase of mid century modern furniture.
